
Dimitri Stamos, Investment Counsellor, Manulife Private Wealth

My name is Dimitri Stamos, and I'm an Investment Counsellor with Manulife Private Wealth. I've always been passionate about investing since a very young age. That's led me to the investment management space.

We have been able to advise and guide high network and ultra-high network families on managing and protecting their legacies for their life goals and the future generations.

As an investment professional in this business since 2006, I wanted to partner with a firm that provides as many tools as possible, so I can then provide those tools to my clients. That's why I chose Manulife Private Wealth.

One of those tools, for example, is having access to global private market that's not readily available to most investors. Part of my core service offering to my clients is helping them gain access to sought-after investments, such as farmland, timberland, infrastructure projects like renewable energy, data centers, and industrial real estate. These projects and properties can't be accessed on the public markets as their privately held by large asset managers.

Having access to these tools helps my clients have peace of mind that their hard-earned legacies are well protected quality assets.

Access both public markets and private assets, essential components to retirement investing

A widespread health crisis such as a global pandemic could cause substantial market volatility, exchange trading suspensions and closures, and affect portfolio performance. For example, the novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) has resulted in significant disruptions to global business activity. The impact of a health crisis and other epidemics and pandemics that may arise in the future, could affect the global economy in ways that cannot necessarily be foreseen at the present time. A health crisis may exacerbate other pre-existing political, social and economic risks. Any such impact could adversely affect the portfolio's performance, resulting in losses to your investment.
